

Training & Educational Resources

Many State/Provincial Envirothon programs compile educational resources and can offer recommendations for obtaining training resources or learning opportunities in your area. Envirothon programs often utilize resources available from local government and natural resource agencies. Many agencies have educational resources and/or individuals who can provide training in the areas of soils/land use, aquatic ecology, forestry, and wildlife.

To locate resources and training for your Envirothon program/team, you should first contact your State/Provincial Envirothon Committee. Additionally, you may solicit information or resources from the following organizations, agencies, and associations:
